

O Shakespeare, Shakespeare, wherefore art thou Shakespeare?

This week, Year 4 and 5 had workshops with the wonderful Young Shakespeare Company! On Monday, Year 4 told the story of A Midsummer Night's Dream and had a go at using some lines from the play! On Tuesday, Year 5 explored the story of Romeo and Juliet and acted out the tragic story of star-crossed lovers. What scenes can you spot in the pictures?

“FEEL THE RHYTHM” ENFIELD SCHOOLS’ DANCE FESTIVAL 2019

MILLFIELD THEATRE

Ms Guler, Mr Said and a group of very talented KS1 dancers took part in the annual dance festival hosted by Millfield Theatre. This year's theme “Feel the Rhythm”, focused on the health and well-being aspect of dance. How it makes you feel; how it can make others feel, and how emotion can be expressed through movement. Through “Rhythm” they had portrayed the very backbone of dance by drawing on different styles of music and dance. By meshing these two concepts together, they had the perfect combination of emotion in motion. Our scholars (and teachers) practiced very hard, perfecting their dance routine and made everyone were very proud of their efforts and fabulous talents.

We want to thank Ms Guler and Ms Bolat for all their hard work and Ms Burey for helping to organise and arrange transportation etc. for this event. We also want to say thank you to our parents in supporting their children and making it possible for them to attend this year's festival. Watch this space—our scholars will soon be better than the hip-hop group ‘Diversity’.

Birthday Treats

Dear parents/guardians,
 We just want to remind you all that we are no longer able to allow any treats to be given out in class on pupils' birthdays. Many pupils at the academy have allergies or have religious beliefs that may mean they cannot join in when treats are shared. We want to keep every child in the school safe from allergens but also to be fair and ensure that pupils do not feel excluded from activities in any way. Thank you for understanding.

AJK Scholars of the Week

Definition of a scholar: a person who is highly educated or has an aptitude for study.
