

AJK Secondary Daily Reading

Reading is an integral part of being an Ark John Keats pupil. At our school, all pupils enjoy reading and all pupils read every day. Pupils are confident to read texts belonging to different forms, genres and time periods. They have the skills to tackle complex and unfamiliar reading material and relish the challenge of this. Pupils are confident to read aloud and know the value of their own voice in telling a story. They are also confident to read independently, and can navigate narrative and non-narrative texts to support their learning and personal development. The written word is the primary currency of ideas, and pupils are actively supported in their journey as readers to allow them to access, engage with and add to the very best of what has been thought and said.
